Poverty in the Philippines - The Borgen Project

Apr 13, 2018 - It has also been named to lists of least livable cities and fastest growing cities. Its population is over 18 million, with a density of 114,300 people per square mile. Roughly one-third of Dhaka’s residents live in poverty, with two million inhabiting slums or without any form of shelter. Lagos, Nigeria: Lagos is Africa’s fastest growing city.

The most sustainable cities in the world - Iberdrola

The Sustainable Cities Index (SCI), developed by ARCADIS in collaboration with the United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-HABITAT), is an annual report that is supported by the study of the three pillars of sustainability, whose objective is to develop a rating system for the 100 most sustainable cities in the world.

36 Best Cities in India to Live and Work in 2021

The best cities to live in India in 2021 are an amalgamation of the cultures of various states that have been moulded into well-structured cities. Whether it is strong infrastructure, sustainable development or simply improving the economy, these megacities function effortlessly due to incredible process mechanisms.

Current Issues in the Philippines Free Essay Example

Aug 06, 2016 - The lack of education of Filipinos living in the slum areas in major cities of the country is the void that keeps the gap between the rich and the poor. It is one of the major contributory factors that has caused the Philippines to remain as a third world country, aside from corruption in government. Evidence from slums in Philippine cities.

Global Homelessness Statistics - Homeless World Cup

Rural families often move to informal settlements on the fringes of Bishkek and other major cities. About 70% of the 6.2 million people in Kyrgyzstan live in substandard housing, and it is not uncommon for three familial generations to be crowded into one room. 80% of children living on the street are a result of internal migration. In January 2018, Bishkek was hit by a severe cold snap.